

2023 IMPACT REPORT

A Message from our President, Matt Kahny

At Dal-Tile, innovation and responsible stewardship drive our mission. We constantly challenge ourselves to excel, setting a high standard with sustainable practices and ethical business conduct.

Our Promise platform underscores our dedication to three essential pillars: environmental stewardship, employee well-being, and transparency in business operations. We are committed to crafting beautiful tiles responsibly, every single day.

Our Planet

We are dedicated stewards of our global impact, leveraging our resources to shrink our footprint, reduce our waste, and reinvigorate our industry with solutions and sustainable product designs. For example, we recover and reuse 84% of all process wastewater in our US - and Mexico - based facilities. In addition, we have reduced our carbon footprint by over 17% from 2018 to the present. In our view, sustainability is not just a vision; it is something we must tangibly bring to life every day through our finished products and responsible manufacturing processes.

Our People

Responsible practices must extend beyond products and processes, to include our commitment to our Dal-Tile team members. Although we are a team of over 10,000 employees across North America, our goal is to create a corporate culture that offers a “community feel” where everyone’s contribution is valued and opportunities for personal and professional growth abound.

Our aim is to attract and retain talented individuals by continually upholding high standards in health, safety, diversity, inclusivity, and integrity. We offer comprehensive health and well-being programs for all employees and prioritize workplace safety and professional development.

Dal-Tile regularly acknowledges the contributions of our dedicated team members through initiatives like our quarterly Presidential Awards and our Celebration recognition platform. We support our employees with mentorship and training opportunities and foster the growth of our female employees through the Dal-Tile LeadHER program.

Our commitment to helping others extends beyond our workforce. For decades, we have been dedicated to enhancing the lives of those in the communities where we operate, partnering with organizations such as Gary Sinise®, Habitat for Humanity®, the Salvation Army®, and local schools.

Our guiding philosophy is to achieve business success ethically and safely. We hold ourselves to rigorous standards and continually assess all aspects of our operations.

Environmental, social and ethical issues are priorities across Dal-Tile. Our approach focuses on three core principles: investing in our people to help them fulfill their potential and support their holistic well-being; protecting the environment through conserving resources, using naturally-occurring raw materials and producing durable, long-lasting products, and ensuring ethical practices with everyone with whom we transact business. In all of our actions, our goal is helping to create a better today and tomorrow for people and the planet.

LEADHER

The LeadHER initiative establishes a community of interest around women in leadership, increases connections and promotes professional growth.

Historically, the workforce within the flooring industry has been predominantly male. However, over the last few decades, workplace demographics have changed and become more diverse. Companies are increasingly recognizing the importance of having talented leadership that reflects that diversity.

Hilary Frank (Regional Vice President of the Midwest Sales Region) and Whitney Welch (Vice President of Commercial Sales), have grown their careers at Dal-Tile. In 2022, they launched the LeadHER initiative to help other women teammates grow as leaders within the company. “Through the program, we’re mentoring and developing women to excel in their current positions while preparing them to take on other leadership roles with greater responsibilities across the organization,” Frank said. “LeadHER is designed to create a women’s focused community of interest within Dal-Tile.” The two established a steering committee for the initiative, which includes women leaders director-level and up, from all around the business.

In 2023, we continued to invest in and expand the LeadHER program with quarterly speakers and panels, achieving a record year of mentorship participation. We expect the program to continue growing each year. On International Women’s Day in March of 2023, the group held the first in a series of planned LeadHER engagement sessions for women at Dal-Tile, featuring guest speaker Shannon Bayer from Linkage.

President Matt Kahny and Senior Vice President of Sales Scott Maslowski also joined the session, voicing their support for greater connection and collaboration among women across the business.

A second engagement session was held in the second quarter, featuring guest speaker Andrea Hyre from Paradigm Shift who shared her insights. This was followed by a third-quarter session with Marsha Clark, author of Embracing Your Power with Gender Differences. Finally, the fourth quarter featured a panel discussion lead by the LeadHER Steering Committee.

The LeadHER program is also currently conducting its annual internal one-on-one mentoring program, with additional training and development opportunities planned. “We think that LeadHER can foster the kind of networking and knowledge sharing that will help our peers become even more engaged, increasing the pipeline of women at Dal-Tile ready to lead,” Frank said. “It is a community of interest that ultimately strengthens our organization by inspiring professional growth.”
